FOR PRESIDENT,
Wm. McKinley,
of Ohio.
FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
Theodore Roosevelt,
of New York.
FOR GOVERNOR,
John W. Terrell,
of Boyle County.
FOR CONGRESS,
W. H. Kelly,
Breckenridge County.

THE "stump suckers" are telling the people of the country that Beckham's title was confirmed, signed and ratified by four different courts, every word of which is as false as the charge that Republicans stole the election last fall. Gentlemen you should confine yourselves to the truth and above all, be gentlemen, not vagabonds.

AFTER reading Mr. Yerkes speech at Bowling Green and the essay of Master Cripps Beckham at Henderson, one might well conjecture why McCrory doesn't remove his little Boy Blue to Tennessee or elsewhere until the election is over. He should, by no means, be allowed within one hundred miles of Yerkes.

HONEST Democrats, you should ask yourselves this question before voting for Bryan: What business had he in coming to Kentucky and asking you to support a man whom we had repudiated for his lawlessness? In our opinion a man is unworthy an honest man's vote, who urges his fellow citizens to support fraud, force and thievery in politics. This Mr. Bryan did in Kentucky.

MR. YERKES had five thousand people to hear him at Mayfield, where Goebel opened his campaign one year ago. The speaker was enthusiastic and received and his welcome was royal and imposing. Western Kentucky will repudiate Goebel by giving Mr. Yerkes the largest vote ever given a Republican in that section. There is no doubt about the election. The only question is what will Mr. Yerkes' majority be?

JOHN S. RHEA reported to the Louisville papers that he was "assassinated with rocks" in Morgan town last Monday night. This is the second time John Rhea has been assassinated, at Morgantown, and why this? Because he is a noted dreamer, a falsifier and a calamity breeder. John Rhea is a noted blackguard in his public speeches, very much overbearing. No confidence is placed in his report while most all believe it to be one of his lies.

MR. BRYAN is being reminded by national politicians that he came to Kentucky last fall and gave his great Democratic weight towards destroying popular government. It is very clear that Mr. Bryan does not practice what he preaches. He does not believe in governing without the consent of the governed, yet he telegraphed his congratulations to Wm. Goebel on his overthrowing popular government in Kentucky. Bryan is a political fakir, unfeeling and unworthy the confidence of the intelligent voter. Goebelism and Bryanism are stances that should not permeate American atmosphere.

WE note that the Beaver Dam Gleaner is endorsing what is commonly termed Goebelism in this State. Every man in this country is privileged to think and do for himself, the Gleaner not excepted, so our friend proclaims himself a Democrat. Very strange indeed. How Mr. Holt can sanctify Goebelism and the robbery of last November, we do not profess to know. We know that every intelligent man knows that what has been done in the name of Democracy in Kentucky is all "rot," yet our contemporary assumes to belong to that class. But, really, does any one suppose that the Gleaner's changing will amount to anything?

THE struggle for civil liberty in Kentucky continues, while the efforts of the despots and desperados to enslave the people continue also. The bulk of intelligence is on the side of the people, which will ultimately prevail. The first battle for civil liberty was won by the people, but "under the forms of law" this victory was overthrown by a man who claims to be a friend of the great common people, and whose last injunction was "Tell my friends to be true to the great common people." It is indeed strange that such words could or would come from one who cared so little for the decrees of the people, but we are told that these words are the words of William Goebel.

PRESIDENT MCKINLEY's letter of acceptance is a master piece of Statesmanship. It is unlike Mr. Bryan's watered stock, every dollar of it is in gold. Mr. Bryan failed to mention free-silver in his speech of acceptance, yet he refused to accept the nomination except the Chicago convention was explicitly endorsed. President McKinley takes up the money question and discusses it thoroughly as he does every question that he considers. Bryan's hobby this year is imperialism, while four years ago it was free-silver or "bust." Four years ago we heard nothing but hard times and squalor; to day we have neither. Every man can get employment if he wants it and a dollar is worth 100 cents anywhere.

GOVERNOR TAYLOR was greeted by a large Indiana audience at Kokomo recently. The Kokomo Tribune thus sums up the offense that Governor Taylor has committed, which caused his ostracism. "The only offense which Governor Taylor has committed is to be clearly and fairly elected by the people of Kentucky to the highest office in their gift." This is all the charge against this man, except by the rabid partisan, who seeks to blacken and ruin his character by reason of his election. Will the people endorse these defamers of human character by voting for Goebelism or will they rebuke them by voting for John W. Yerkes? They certainly will give Beckham the black eye, and the whole "shooting match" as well.

Poor old Joe Blackburn has been pushed off into oblivion, by the Goebelites and is now dead politically, though he was elected United States Senator by that rump Legislature. Joe has long since deserved political death which is now his. He is that dear friend of Mr. Sanford, whom Goebel killed, against whom he brought suit for the widow in the sum of $25,000, but on becoming a candidate for Senator, and seeking the influence of the murderer, persuaded the poor unfortunate widow to withdraw the suit, and now this wife of Sanford is in the asylum, a raving lunatic. She was once the queen of a happy home, destroyed by Goebel and Blackburn. If Kentucky ever had cause for rejoicing over the political death of any man, it is certainly Blackburn.

DAVE SMITH said in his speech at Hartford that he saw the militia on the streets in Louisville during the election hours, which he knew was a wilful lie, and now the local politicians are preaching this stuff to the people of Ohio county. All these gentlemen know that this statement of Mr. Smith's is a lie out of whole cloth, yet they accept, cram their heads full of such campaign stuff, then deliver it to the country men, who look to them for political light. Mr. Smith had an opportunity to go before the contest board at Frankfort and make oath to this statement, yet he didn't do it. His party failed to prove such with a hundred witnesses, and yet this lieing, braying ass, from LaRue, crams this into the Democrats of Ohio county.

IT is very humiliating that men will allow their passions to get the better part of their natures and allow their partisanship to outstrip their manhood. At McHenry Mr. Goebel told the people "he was going to be Governor, that the Republicans might do the voting but the Democrats would do the counting." Good men heard this man utter these demagogic words and made oath to same. Many more heard it and would do likewise. Yet others heard the same, or should have and in the hour of blind passion and rage, made oath that no such words were uttered. Those gentlemen of McHenry, Render and Williams Mines will remember this when they come to cast their ballots in November. They will remember that the integrity and veracity of their fellow citizens were questioned, without cause. It will be no surprise to the thinking man if McHenry were to give Yerkes 100 majority. In all probability it will do.

IN another column will be found a card from Senator R. M. Jolly, the Republican nominee for Congress in this District. Mr. Jolly is at Frankfort at his post of duty and he should stay there. The people of the Fourth District will look after his interests, while he is in the struggle to repeal the infamous Goebel law, which Mr. Smith defends. The voters of the Fourth District will bear in mind that Dave Smith was the campaign manager of the Goebel escapade, in which the will of the people was overthrown. He was an ardent supporter of all that is monstrous in Goebelism and stood for. He was a defender of the defenseless, and now asks the good people to endorse his works by supporting him for Congress. Such a man is wholly unworthy the vote of any gentleman. Mr. Jolly is a gentleman against whom there can be nothing said. He has labored zealously in the struggle for the restoration of the ballot and fully merits the confidence and support of every lover of liberty.

These are Desperate Fellows

Strange, though true, there are men, now stamping this country, in the interest of those who have committed grand larceny against the people of the Commonwealth, regarded as truthful gentlemen, by many, who are misinforming their hearers, for no other purpose than to cover their black deeds of infamy and the outrages against the ballot. We are surprised that gentlemen will prevaricate, falsify and misrepresent the truth when they know it. The accused deeds of the accused, will be defended, in most cases, by their accuser.

Imparting righteous knowledge, these men, should be excused from the list because their deeds are evil. How did Mr. Beckham get his seat? First, he got it through and by the acts of the Legislature and in no other way did he get it. He was defeated at the polls, by the people, but unfortunately, had his majority of the Legislators under his control. He instituted a contest in which he prayed his hearers to disregard the vote of the people and declare him elected. The Legislature said certain men should sit at the contest committee, and they did sit; and after they had sat for thirteen days, they refused to hear any further evidence, absolutely refusing to hear one word of testimony from Kenton county, where innumerable frauds were committed, but without giving any reason, or showing in a single instance, where the Republicans had committed fraud, declared that Wm. Goebel and J. W. Beckham were elected Governor and Lieutenant Governor respectively.

After this declaration had been re-declared the third time, these apostles of political duplicity and fraud demanded the offices, which the people denied them, and Gov. Taylor and Lieutenant Governor Marshal carried the case to the courts. Judge Emmett Field was the first jurist appealed to, who refused to raise his hand to stop the thief, stating that the frauds of the Legislature might be ever so flagrant, he had no power to stay the hand of the conspirator, that the Legislature's acts could not be reviewed, but never one time stated that Mr. Beckham or any of his clan were elected and the man asserting to the contrary is either an ignoramus or a willful falsifier.

From Judge Field's decision Mr. Taylor took his case to Judge Tatt, who said he could not review the acts of a State's Legislature, but was of opinion that the Supreme Court would take up the case. This court likewise said its jurisdiction extended not into State's affairs, that this was a matter for the people themselves to settle, and not theirs.

No court has ever justified the acts of the Legislature in declaring Goebel Governor, and no Democrat of fair ness and intelligence has ever will say that it has. We are sorry that there are men in the State and especially men in this county, who are so lost to every sense of justice, honor and true malice that they go forth to poison and prejudice the minds of the public. We regret that our Democratic neighbors do not have the manhood to acknowledge and accept the honest and honorable defeat.

The crime against Kentucky, her citizens and her God has been committed by men, who fully realized the depth to which Satan had dragged them and they were desperate fellows. Since they realize that the wrath of an outraged people is upon them, they have grown more desperate and just how far they will allow their passion to drive them cannot be foretold. Destiny has prepared a place for such characters, to which they must in the near future retire.

Where shall the Work be Done?

"We want no idle men in the United States. We want no idle mills in the United States, and to the end that we may have neither idle men nor idle mills, we must do our work in the United States, and not outside the United States," said President McHenry during the last campaign. Those who oppose the American policy of protection to American industries, the policy that makes it certain that we shall do our work in our own country, would hardly dare to say openly that they wanted to see the workingmen of the United States idle or even that they did not care whether they were idle or not. Yet that is what their advocacy of Free-Trade says for them. The choice between Protection and Free-Trade is a choice between doing our work in this country, giving the industries of this country Protection against the industries of Europe with their pauper labor, and thus securing to the people of this country steady work at good wages in supplying the demands of the American market, which is by far the most profitable market in the world—a choice between that and the buying of what goods we can pay for abroad, and thus giving to the foreign laborers rather than to those of our own country the work of manufacturing these goods. The choice ought to be an easy one to any American who is proud of his country.—American Economist.

THE struggle for civil liberty in Kentucky continues, while the efforts of the despots and desperados to enslave the people continue also. The bulk of intelligence is on the side of the people, which will ultimately prevail. The first battle for civil liberty was won by the people, but "under the forms of law" this victory was overthrown by a man who claims to be a friend of the great common people, and whose last injunction was "Tell my friends to be true to the great common people." It is indeed strange that such words could or would come from one who cared so little for the decrees of the people, but involved in the campaign, Mr. Taylor spoke for about an hour and a quarter. His style is peculiarly his own. It is free from pretense of oratory, and never indulges in rhetorical flights or highly colored figures. He employs the simple language of the people and gets as near to the hearts of his hearers as any man who has ever been heard upon the local stump. The things that most impress one is his intense earnestness. His utterances leave no doubt as to his convictions or his perfect honesty. He is a southerner and the fact creeps out in his accent and manner. His methods of address are as simple as his style of dress is plain, but he is, in his own way, a master of pathos and humor and he delivers his message to the people in a way that they understand.

It has seldom occurred that there has been a lack of enthusiasm among Howard county Republicans in any campaign. They almost invariably begin well and keep up their lick to the finish. But conceding the good work of the past, it is none the less true that never in the history of Kokomo did any political gathering, no matter of what complexion, enjoy a fuller measure of success than did that which marks the beginning of the battle of 1900.

The "Old Guard" was success-there were a hundred of the grizzled veterans in line; the Rough Riders were a success—they were present in dozens and scores, and last and best of all the meetings held by Governor Taylor at the opera house and at the new headquarters were successes of such proportions that they will long be recalled as a pattern for the opening of future campaigns.

The crowd began gathering in the down town quarters before 7 o'clock and at 7:30 all was in readiness for the street demonstration.

The "Old Guard," headed by the Red Men's band had the head of the column. Then followed the Pilox band and succeeding it Colonel Cooper and staff and the half dozen or more troops of Rough Riders. The line formed in front of the opera house and proceeded thence by the way of Walnut, Main and Mulberry streets to the Clinton Hotel, where Governor Taylor was received. He was taken in charge by the reception committee composed of C. C. Shirley, J. F. Elliot and J. A. Kautz, and escorted to the head of the column.

Just before the march was taken up, someone, to try the temper of the crowd, proposed three cheers for the Governor. They were given and with a will that left no doubt in the distinguished gentleman's mind as to the cordiality of his reception.

Upon arriving at the theater, the reception committee and speaker proceeded immediately to the stage and the "Old Guard" found seats that had been specially reserved for them.

It is no exaggeration to state that when Mr. Shirley, who presided, came forward to introduce the speaker, he faced as big, if not the biggest, audience that ever assembled within the walls of Kokomo's senior playhouse.

When Governor Taylor came for ward he was greeted with enthusiastic applause and as soon as this subsided he began his address. He prefaced his remarks with a brief but feeling reference to his own recent unfortunate and unhappy experience in the politics of his home State.

He declared his entire innocence of the charge that has been lodged against him and said that he had full faith that Providence would set him right in the eyes of the world and fix the blame for the lamentable occurrences in Kentucky upon the shoulders where it belongs.

In addressing himself to the issues of the Indianapolis Independent, a weekly journal professing political dependence and leaning more to Democracy than to Republicanism, contains the following editorial leader in its issue of Saturday, September 1.

The political situation in Kentucky may be summed up in a nutshell.

The Republicans were elected to the State offices, the Democrats stole these offices "under the forms of law" and are now trying to hang all the Republicans for the crime of being elected. It is an in tilt to intelligence to say that the men indicted will receive fair trials. The prosecution is partisan and one sided all the way through. The indictments were found by a partisan grand jury made up of Democrats. The court officials and arresting officers were all Democrats. The petit jury to try the first case was summoned by Democrats, empaneled by Democrats, and consisted of Democrats with one exception being a sham Republican under the influence of the Democrats, being put on to rave appearances but just as sure to convict as any of the others. The Judge who tried the case is a partisan Democrat and showed it in all his rulings. The prosecution is partisan and one sided all the way through. The indictments were found by a partisan grand jury made up of Democrats, were backed by a fund of $100,000, which they could and did use freely to buy all the perjured testimony that they wanted. Add to all this the strongest possible motive to convict—that motive was to make political capital against the Republicans for the pending campaign by "proving" that they were either assassins or connived at the assassination of a Democrat, and you have the case in full. And some people have the cheek to say this is granting a free and fair trial for one's life. When was there a time that any man got a fair trial from his enemies? When was there a time that it was either safe or decent for one political party to indict and try its opponents? Until human nature is completely changed this can never result in anything but a travesty of justice. Especially is it so in Kentucky, where politics, always unceasing and partaking of the malignant spirit of the feud and vendetta, and of recent years is flamed to the point of madness, degenerated into actual savagery. That Clegg Powers may be guilty of some kind of a crime is a question for legitimate discussion. But that he has not been proved guilty of any crime, most especially of the crime of killing Goebel, does not admit any argument among rational men.

On account of Elks Exposition and Carnival, Louisville, Ky., September 17th to 29th, the I. C. R. R. will sell round trip tickets at the following rates: September 17th to 29th, $4.20, tickets limited to October 1, 1900, for return—September 17th, 19th, 21st, 26th, limited to one day in addition to date of sale for return.

Mr. F. W. Jones, chief deputy state organizer for the Red Men, was in town Monday and Tuesday endeavoring to establish a lodge or order. He went to Henderson Wednesday to look after work there, and comes back to Hartford later. The Red Men are strong in the North and East and is doubtless a splendid order.

Judge L. P. Little, of Owensboro, will address the voters of McHenry at Render to-morrow night. Judge Little is a very able and worthy gentleman and should have the largest audience ever assembled in Render. Preparations are being made to organize the banner Liberty club of the county that night. Those desiring to hear the truth from an honest Democrat should go out to hear Judge Little.

The teachers will meet at Center-town tomorrow to start their Association work. We judge from the work in the Institute this will be the best years' work in the history of the organization. Last year the teachers made quite an improvement over the preceding year and there is no reason why this should not prove the banner year in the school work. The teacher who makes himself a hermit and refuses to join his co-laborers in this work is unworthy of his high calling.

Oho county was represented at the Verkes speaking at Owensboro Wednesday by the following gentlemen: Messrs. M. S. Regland, T. S. Marks, C. P. Keown, John C. Riley, Dr. E. W. Ford, T. H. Black and Lon Rogers, Hart-ford; S. P. Roby, Jacob Chancellor, Jo. Roberts, Tom Brown, H. D. Loyd, Crockett, Westerfield and G. Davis Royal, Fordsville; E. E. and Jo. B. Rogers, Beaver Dam; Wm. Combs and Ed. Massie, Whitesville; H. C. Shaver, V. M. Stewart, Robert Webb and J. B. Iler, Beda; Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Royal, Fordsville; Esq. J. S. Fitz hugh and Virgil Renfrow, Narrows.

Senator Wm. J. Deboe will speak at the Court House next Wednesday in the interest of civil liberty and good government. Every body invited. Speaking begins at 1 o'clock p. m.

Mr. Byron Petty, of Fordsville, matriculated Monday morning.

Miss Lorraine Sullenger has been absent from school several days on account of chills.

Miss Oma Campbell has been absent several days, but is able to be in school again.

We would like to see James DeWees nominated for County School Superintendent. Not alone because we like him, but because he is a popular and deserving boy.

What is the matter with George Maddox for Assessor? Those who have taken part in the political battles in Ohio county for the past dozen years know how valuable his services have been and we should be proud to have him on the ticket next year.

Welcome to Governor Taylor.

The Republicans of Howard county had as their guest Tuesday evening Hon. W. S. Taylor, former Governor of Kentucky. Governor Taylor, as is well known, is now a temporary resident of Indiana, not a fugitive from justice but a welcome guest, honored with the confidence and esteem of all who have made his acquaintance, and protected by Governor Mount against the fury of a partisan mob of his own State, which is now called by courtesy of the Goebel Democratic party of Kentucky. The only offense which Governor Taylor has committed was to be clearly and fairly elected by the people of Kentucky to the highest office in their gift. Under the opposition of the infamous Goebel election law a partisan majority in the legislature arbitrarily set aside the popular election, and robbed Governor Taylor of his office and set up a usurper in his place. The infamy of that law is confessed by the Goebel party in Kentucky. The creature who now occupies the executive chair has called the legislature in extraordinary session and at this very hour is laboring and pleading with his partisans in that body to repeal the statute which alone gave him his fraudulent title as Governor. Governor Taylor, the victim of Goebel tyranny, is infinitely more worthy of honor than is the miserable puppet now holding office as a usurper. Howard county Republicans were glad to greet Governor Taylor and were delighted to hear him Tuesday night.—Kokomo, Indiana, Tribune.

ADABURG, KY.

Sept. 12.—The farmers in this community are about through housing to bacco. Owing to too much rain and not enough rain the crop is cut a little short.

Miss Susan T. Crowe, who has had typhoid fever for several weeks, is slowly improving.

School opened at this place the 10th inst., under the management of Prof. C. L. Patton and Miss Artie Wilson. There seems to be flattering prospects for a successful term.

Miss Lorena Ward, of near Whitesville, is visiting Miss Hester Amrose this week.

Mrs. J. W. Patton visited her son, Mr. J. L. Patton, of Ralph, Ky., last week.

Mr. Basil Taylor went to Owensboro today, with the expectation of getting a front seat at the fair.

Mr. E. C. Wade, who has been suffering for some time with rheumatism, is slowly recovering.

Born to the wife of R. D. Burton an eight pound girl.

There is considerable talk of a wedding in this community soon. If there should happen to be one I shall let you know forthwith, immediately if not sooner.
